This is a public conduct record. Entries identify a marketplace handle and its platform only. They contain NO personally identifying information: no legal name, no address, no contact details, and nothing about who filed a report. Every entry is a report backed by what was checked, not a verdict, and any entry is corrected or removed if it does not hold up. A handle can dispute its entry at any time.

Findings and evidence

3 observations across 2 dated sections. Sources that did not corroborate the report are shown too, and labelled as such.

TikTok live VODs and screenshots on file

This seller was reported for misrepresenting the grade and value of cards, by pricing on the basis of a top PSA grade the cards are not guaranteed to receive and asking bids well above documented comparable sales. Shown here as reported. This is a report, not a verdict.

Public tip (CardConduct TikTok comment) plus independent open-market comps, checked 2026-08-25

On 2026-08-25 a public tip (a comment on CardConduct's TikTok) reported that this seller pushed a "Trick or Treat" Mewtwo to about $21 during a live sale. Independent open-market comps confirm the card: the 2022 Pokemon Trick or Trade Mewtwo (056/172, pumpkin-stamp holo) trades raw for well under a dollar (about $0.20 to $0.70 on TCGplayer), while graded PSA 9 copies sell around $13 to $20. A raw copy at about $21 would be roughly 20 to 30 times its open-market value, consistent with this seller's existing entry for misrepresenting card value. The specific bidding mechanism is reported only and has not been independently observed. A report, not a verdict.
